

Lynx is a legend of excellence—from the hand-finished hoods to the brilliant burners nestled within. The long line of Lynx innovations has now led to a burner that’s more reliable, clean, and responsive.

Traditional burners can suffer when extreme heat expands and contracts the metal, loosening bonds over time. Performance weakens as food residue clogs ports, or corrosive outdoor weather degrades the material.

The new Lynx ceramic burner is made from cordierite ceramic, a material chosen for kilns and commercial ovens because of the temperatures that it endures. We tested these burners relentlessly, igniting them thousands of times, even when encrusted with sauce or encased with ice. When we place these radiant gems at the heart of your Lynx Grill, we harness them to controls that let you precisely tune a power you haven’t felt before.
